

Introductory Workshop on Sustainability Reporting using G4

Monday 2 November 2015
Room XXV, Palais des Nations, Geneva

Description:

Governments and regulatory frameworks are playing an increasingly important role in promoting corporate transparency and accountability. In this introductory workshop, participants will learn how sustainability reports contribute to transparency and accountability and how organizations preparing them are responding to increasing regulatory requirements. Participants will discover GRI, developer of the widely used sustainability reporting standards, and how the G4 Sustainability Reporting Guidelines can help organizations to manage their economic, environmental and governance impacts responsibly.
